

DAY OF THE KNIGHTS

Maccabees Celebrate the Anniversary of Their Order.

DR. CAMPBELL FAIR'S ADDRESS

After the services in St. Mark's the graves of departed brethren were strewn with flowers.

Yesterday the Maccabees celebrated the twelfth anniversary of the order. The celebration was not so elaborate as the one held a year ago, but this was not due to any diminution in the enthusiasm of members of the order. It was first intended to observe the day by giving an excursion to Kalamazoo. This was found impracticable and the excursion was postponed. Consequently little time was left in which to prepare for a local celebration of the day. Most of the energy of the Grand Rapids tents is being used in preparing for the state event to be held here in September. This will be the greatest day the western Maccabees have ever known, and at least 10,000 knights will throng the city. The work of preparing for this made it impossible for the board to devote very much time in arranging for a celebration of the anniversary, but under the circumstances they presented a highly creditable appearance.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon the different tents met at their halls and marched to Maccabee hall on Pearl street.

Line of March. Here the line of march was formed. It was headed by Sergeant McCarthy and a squad of twenty patrolmen. The sergeant's horse Crocker was feeling his oats and appreciated fully the dignity of his position. After the squad of patrolmen came Ward's band. The Maccabees were headed by Division No. 3, uniformed rank. About forty members of the division were in line, and they were arrayed in full dress uniforms. They made a pretty appearance and their marching was excellent. Crescent Star tent came next, with its prize banner proudly hung to the breeze. Consensus, Batavia, Connor division, Valley City, Werner and Grover Cleveland tents followed, and all were well represented. The line of parade extended down Pearl street to Mt. Vernon, thence to Bridge street, up Bridge to Canal, along Canal to Monroe, up to Division street, and thence to St. Mark's church. The sidewalks along Monroe and Canal streets were lined with spectators, and the 100 men in line received many compliments for their appearance. At St. Mark's church the knights were met by the lady Maccabees.

Dr. Fair's Address. Dr. Campbell Fair delivered an address to the members of the order present, during which he said: "On the eleventh day of June, 1881, the Great Camp of the K. O. T. M. of Michigan was organized under special charter. It had then 700 members; it has today, twelve years later, 30,225. Whence this great prosperity? The answer is found in the fact that the Maccabees are one of the most secure of our fraternal and beneficial organizations, and when there is a good thing offered men usually avail themselves of its privileges and advantages. Moreover, it is a Michigan order, and citizens of this state should support their own child. Then we must remember that this order of Maccabees has amongst its members the most enthusiastic of workers who are ever on the alert to push their beloved society, and any order that is 'talking up' membership cannot but succeed. Woman gives her aid to the K. O. T. M. for it has not denied her membership. But it may be that one of the strongest reasons for Maccabean success lies in the fact that it is founded on a history which cannot die. The story of the Maccabees as given in the Apocryphon is heart stirring and patriotic, and the order which bears its name inherits its success." The speaker explained at length the object and history of the K. O. T. M., referring in conclusion to their memorial ceremonies with which the proceedings would close, and to the duty of all to be here when death removed them they would enter God's temple over Jordan.

Remembered the Dead. At the close of the services at the church, committees from the tents and members of the hives of lady Maccabees drove to the cemeteries, where rest the remains of Sir Knights whose memberships have been transferred to the tent in the great unknown, and scattered flowers on the graves of departed members. These floral offerings were collected in part by the L. O. T. M., and the women took an active interest in the memorial exercises.

DEDICATED A CRUCIFIX. Handsome Cross in the Mt. Calvary Catholic Cemetery.

Not less than 5,000 persons assembled at 3:30 yesterday afternoon in Mt. Calvary cemetery on West Leonard street to witness the dedication of the handsome crucifix lately erected on the highest point in the cemetery. The cross is about twenty feet high and bears upon its face a figure of the Savior. The crucifix was made in Munich and is doubtless the finest thing of the kind in the city. The figure alone cost more than $100.

At 2:30 the Catholic societies formed in line on West Bridge street, with William Druke as marshal and Joseph Brygger and Joseph Brechtung as aides. The societies in line were the following: Knights of St. John, W. H. Murphy, commander. St. Aloysius society, St. Mary's church society, St. Joseph's society, John Juchacz, president, Catholic Mutual Benefit association, Branch 24, Joseph Drager, president, Branch 21, L. L. Laufer, president, Branch 15, W. T. McGurran, president; St. Adelbert's society, John Miska, president; St. Peter and Paul society, St. Hyacinth society, St. Camille society and St. Stanislaus society. The parade was accompanied by the Polish band and Warsaw's band, and was followed by thousands of citizens in carriages and on foot. The procession, nearly 1,000 strong, moved through West Bridge, Stocking and other streets to the cemetery, where many had assembled before the parade arrived. The dedicatory services were conducted by Father Smith of St. Mary's church, assisted by Father Pulcher and Father Henry, C. S. S. R. The music was furnished by St. Mary's church choir. Father Henry made a brief address on the significance of the cross to Christians, and explained how before Christ's time it was looked upon as a low and degrading, as it was used only to punish the worst criminals. Since Christ died upon the cross it has become the symbol of all that was good and pure and holy. Father Henry was followed by Father Smith, who made a brief address in German. The procession returned and marched back to the city, each society proceeding to its own headquarters.

A. O. E. W. Celebration Tonight. The seven local lodges of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, with a membership of 1,043 persons, will hold their first annual reunion and entertainment this evening at Hartman hall. A grand street parade will take place in the early morning. The parade will be observed at the hall. The parade will start from the corner of West Bridge and Mt. Vernon streets at 7 o'clock and proceed to Canal and Monroe streets, finishing at the hall entrance. One of the pleasing incidents of the entertainment will be the presentation by Judge Burlingame of a banner to Goldsmith Lodge No. 167. The banner will be given by Mrs. John Goldsmith, for whose husband the lodge was named. Mr. Goldsmith was the first master workman in this city, and while he lived was an honored member of the order. The Hon. Edward Taggart will preside as chairman, and among the speakers will be W. Wayne Wilson, grand recorder of Detroit, the Rev. J. T. Huston, Maurice Shanahan and Judge E. A. Burlingame.

Death of Russell Smith. Russell Smith, one of the oldest residents of Kent county, died at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. J. D. Naysmith, No. 39 Clancy street, yesterday morning. Mr. Smith was 90 years old. He moved to Monroe township from Ohio thirty-five years ago. About three years ago he came to Grand Rapids, and has since lived with his daughter. He left seven children, Mrs. J. D. Naysmith, Mrs. Frank Westberry, Mrs. Joseph Walker of this city, Charles Smith of Monroe, Mrs. Lavinia Johnson of Monroe, Mrs. Leland Johnson of Irving and Mrs. Hettie Morgan of Lowell. The funeral will be held from the Bowen Center church at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

May Have Been a Burglar. Shortly after 11 o'clock last night the patrol wagon was called to the residence of James Miller at No. 121 Fountain street in answer to a report that a burglar was around the house. Upon arrival on the scene of the midnight prowler could be traced. It was learned that Mr. Miller's hand girl had been awakened and saw through her chamber window a man on the roof of a one-story addition to the house. When the alarm was given he was frightened away.
